

A brilliant idea, Flirt jug brings warming Christmas cheer

Hackman's popular Flirt range now features a jug for hot drinks and mulled wine glasses. The stainless steel jug can be used on the hob to heat Christmas mulled wine and other warming winter drinks. After heating, this brilliant jug slides into a snow-white, insulating plastic sleeve, which also acts as a protective holder. The jug is a stylish way of serving seasonal hot drinks, enjoyed in the latest heat-proof glass mugs in the Flirt range.

The new Flirt jug for hot drinks also makes an excellent gift and is sure to help create a warming festive atmosphere at the start of the Christmas season. The insulated jug can also be used all year round; in the summer it keeps cold drinks refreshingly cool.

The jug is made from stainless steel and holds 2.5 litres. The handle, lid and sleeve are made of plastic. The jug can be used on all kinds of hob and cools drinks in the fridge. The plastic sleeve attaches to the jug magnetically. The sleeve keeps drinks at the desired temperature for longer and also protects the surface of your table. The white jug is also a stylish way of serving drinks straight from hob to table.

The heat-proof glass mugs hold 25 cl and are designed for hot and cold drinks. The mugs have stainless steel handles. Both the glass mugs and the jug are dishwasher-proof.

Including cutlery and serving bowls, Hackman's popular Flirt range opens up a whole new world of table setting scenarios. All the elements are designed in Finland by Pentagon Design.
